UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

If you requested a file disclosure online from Trans Union LLC between September 22, 2011 and October 27, 2011, a Class Action Settlement may affect your legal rights.

Trans Union LLC (“TransUnion”) has settled two class action lawsuits that claimed it erroneously suggested in 2011 that certain consumers were potential matches to a list of Specially Designated Nationals maintained by the U.S. Treasury, Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC). TransUnion denies it violated any law, and the Court has not finally determined who is right. In the Settlement, TransUnion agrees to:

- write a letter of apology to each class member, explaining that a programming error was the cause and that OFAC information was not transmitted to third parties such as lenders;
- confirm that error was corrected in 2011, soon after it occurred; and
- offer each class member a free, three-year Credit Monitoring Subscription, which includes daily access to TransUnion credit reports and daily access to a credit score.

Class members all retain their right to seek individual actual damages for the claims asserted, within thirteen months after the Settlement is approved by the Court. The Settlement also includes a request by Class Counsel for attorneys’ fees and costs of up to $1,480,000, and service payments of up to $10,000 for each of the two Class Representatives who started the lawsuits.

Our records show that you are covered by the Settlement because TransUnion provided you with an online file disclosure between September 22, 2011 and October 27, 2011.

The Court will hold a hearing on November 28, 2018 in Courtroom 2 – 17th Floor, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco, CA 94102, to consider whether to approve the Settlement. You have the right to exclude yourself from the Settlement, or object to the Settlement, but must do so in writing by October 29, 2018.

For more information, including the settlement documents and instructions on how to exclude yourself or object to the Settlement, call 855-786-1016 or visit www.larsonmillertransunionclassaction.com.
